INDUSTRIAL SUPPLY’S BOBBY EVANS EARNS MASTERS DEGREE IN INDUSTRIAL DISTRIBUTION

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH, JULY 2018— Bobby Evans, Inside Sales Manager at Industrial Supply Company, has graduated with a Master of Industrial Distribution (MID) from Texas A&M University. The degree program is specifically targeted toward seasoned professionals in management and leadership roles.

The MID at Texas A&M University is a 4-semester, mobile learning graduate program created for working professionals. The program focuses on supply chain management, logistics, and profitability of distributors and manufacturers in industrial channels. Academic professors and industry leaders co-teach each course, allowing students to learn academic theories and practical applicability within their industry.

"In today’s competitive distribution industry, employees are required to possess a multitude of skills, including technical knowledge, business savvy, communication and leadership skills." said Chris Bateman, CEO of Industrial Supply. "Bobby will immediately be able to apply the knowledge he gained from his MID courses in supporting our business and providing supply-chain solutions for our customers. We look forward to the continued contribution he will make in strengthening and improving our distribution process."

Evans spent his entire business career working for Industrial Supply Company, 15 years in total. He began working in the warehouse and held a variety of jobs—from driver to sales team manager. Evans has been appointed as Director, Customer Service and Supply Chain Solutions for the company. "Industrial Supply has been doing business the right way for over 100 years, and I’m grateful to be part of this amazing team. I’m excited to apply my knowledge and experience in helping Industrial Supply continue to be one of the best, for many years to come," says Evans.
