RANDY EVANS NAMED TO THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS FOR THE ASSOCIATED GENERAL CONTRACTORS OF UTAH

(Salt Lake City, UT) -- Randy Evans, Senior Vice President of Construction at Industrial Supply Company (ISC), has recently been named to the Board of Directors for the Associated General Contractors of Utah (AGCU).

Evans has worked for more than 30 years at ISC developing long-term relationships in both his civic and professional roles. His new appointment as a board member of the AGCU reflects his ongoing commitment to regional construction, and to the projects that the AGCU develops to strengthen Utah and its surrounding communities.

“Randy’s history with ISC is beyond impressive, especially considering that Industrial Supply Company is the forerunner in the construction supply industry,” said Rich Thorn, President of AGCU. “The great thing about Industrial Supply Company is that it is a business that never takes the back seat on the kind of projects that AGCU supports.”

Evans has served as Chair of the Utah Safety Council Board, President of the Salt Lake City Chamber of Commerce Salt Shakers, and as a member of the Building Council with the AGCU. Evans began his career with Industrial Supply in 1979, and continues to be an integral contributor to developing efficiencies within the company’s warehousing and delivery systems.

The AGCU is an organization devoted to sustaining economic growth, building structures to increase productivity, and strengthening the quality of life in the state of Utah.

With six locations throughout Utah, Wyoming and Nevada, Industrial Supply Company offers maintenance, repair and operations supplies and specialized services to help improve the productivity and return on investments for local, national, and international businesses.
