Industrial Supply Company Announces New Chief Executive Officer

Sept 19, 2023 - Industrial Supply Company is pleased to announce that Jessica Yurgaitis is its new Chief Executive Officer. With over a quarter-century at the company, Yurgaitis is a long-time member of Industrial Supply's Executive Team. As CEO, she replaces Chris Bateman, who retired in June.

Currently the Vice Chair of the Industrial & Safety—U.S. Division of Affiliated Distributors, and a former Board Member of the Industrial Supply Association, Yurgaitis is well known in the industry. Over the years, she has formed lasting relationships with both customers and suppliers, which allow Industrial Supply to meet its customers' needs.

Randy Evans, Co-Chairman of Industrial Supply's Board of Directors, noted that he and the entire Board have complete confidence that Yurgaitis is the best person to ensure the company's future success, and uphold its core values of delivering innovative solutions and superior customer service.

"Not only does Jessica have an intimate knowledge of our business model, but she also is deeply committed to personalized customer service and strong vendor relationships, both of which set us apart from other suppliers," said Evans.

Yurgaitis looks forward to expanding her role in the company. "We have an incredible leadership team in place, and are well-situated to meet our customers' needs, no matter what the future brings," said Yurgaitis.

The great-granddaughter of Industrial Supply's founder, Rudy Orlob, Yurgaitis is part of the fourth generation of company leadership, and she continues the company's legacy as a family-run business.
